

P 4 571

Nature, as we have understood it, is going through a transformation, reshaping itself in response to increasingly harsh environment. Organisms are adapting to survive in altered climate...